

Return to Work

Returning to work after an injury or illness? It can be complex: get good Union advice.

Contact UNA if you are asked to attend a meeting to discuss your return to work.

Any Employee who is returning to work with health-related restrictions on what functions they can perform should contact their Local and Labour Relations Officer for assistance in the process. The Employers' duty to accommodate health-related restrictions can be complex.

Some Employers do NOT fully inform Employees of their rights when returning to work with restrictions.

In any discussion you have with the Employer, or if the Employer is contacting you to discuss the restrictions and possible positions for placement, it is important to contact UNA and take UNA representation with you to the meeting.

Call your Union for assistance!

SPOTLIGHT on your UNA contract

February 2009

KLa • CEP • Spotlight-returntoworkcomplex • 02-2009

Questions?

Contact your United Nurses of Alberta Representative:

• Provincial Office: (780) 425-1025 or 1 800 252-9394 • Southern Alberta Regional Office: (403) 237-2377 or 1 800 661-1802 • www.una.ab.ca

